Brought to you by Edgemakers (STEM Learning Lab) and the CBE this unique Professional Development Program will support teachers in developing competencies in STEAM education

Calgary Board of Education

Participants form a small cohort to explore the value of a STEAM-based pedagogy by meeting inspirational local entrepreneurs and community members who use STEAM principles in their work. By asking deep, inquiry-based questions, and creating intentional lessons, teachers gain confidence and knowledge to create a STEAM-based classroom.

Goals of the Program:

1. Build teacher capacity through rich learning experiences
2. Develop leaders to support STEAM initiatives at your school.

Program Components:

1. 4 engaging Professional Development days for participants
2. EITHER 1/2 day PD session for whole staff, OR 2 hours in class support for participants in program (School's Choice)

Cost of the Program: $650/teacher*

Program costs do not include the cost of sub fees.*

Workshops will be during the school week so we can have better access to other organizations in the STEAM community.

This cohort was a wonderful experience. I thoroughly enjoyed spending time with the group and learned so much. I can use the skills I learned with my students, with the teachers at my school, and in everyday life. This experience was incredible and I am thrilled to know even more about the purpose of STEAM! ~ Kim, grade 3 teacher
